

ABSTRACT

A file generation apparatus has file generating and registering means for generating a file and registering the file in a file posting apparatus, URL generating means for generating URL notation that includes a description of full path information to the file registered in the file posting apparatus and a description to call a function which operates the file, and transmitting means for transmitting file registration information describing that generated URL notation to a transmission destination by using electronic mail, etc.